Scripture Overview

God's glory is always revealed, even if never completely. When Moses encounters God on the mountain, his face undergoes a physical transformation as a reflection of God's greater glory. The psalmist reminds us of how great God is and how even Moses and Aaron bow before God's throne. Paul refers to the story of Moses, but because of Christ, God's glory is now more openly revealed. There is no need to wear a covering as Moses did, for Christ reflects openly the divine radiance. Luke recounts the Transfiguration, when the face of Jesus, like that of Moses, begins to shine. God's voice reinforces the revelation of the Transfiguration, declaring Jesus to be God's Son and the revelation of God's glory.

Thank You

Thank you to all members who assisted in any way for the funeral of our dear friend Betty Christensen. Those who helped in the kitchen, serving, providing food, setting up & clearing away, with flowers, with the sound desk & Powerpoint. Wes & Lynn were very grateful for your help, thank you.
